

Piano Team

About

The piano department is the largest at Berkshire Music Trust, accounting for a quarter of all tuition delivered by the Trust. Our piano teachers are well versed in a variety of genres and styles with many having Western Classical as a speciality. During our regular CPD sessions, we look to tap into this breadth of knowledge.

Our piano teachers range from professionals with decades of experience to those new to the occupation. All are keen to share best practice to ensure that our students receive the best possible musical education.

The teaching portfolio is varied with lessons being delivered at primary and secondary schools as well as evenings at our county-wide Music Centres. The majority of our piano lessons tend to be 1:1 although there are opportunities for small group teaching.

Given the breadth of activities being run by Berkshire Music Trust, we often have a need for our piano teachers to help with accompanying of our choirs and other instrumentalists. We run many concerts across the academic year so there are always opportunities for our teachers to get involved and share the joy of music.

Come and experience music education the Berkshire Music way!
